Envoys Leave New York On Way to Oyster Bay

NEW YORK, Aug 5 .- The Japanese here this morning on two United States cruisers for Oyster Bay. There they will meet President Roosevelt and be presented to each other, previous to their departure for Portsmouth, where the negotiations looking to the ending of the war, will be opened on Tuesday

The Japanese delegation made the trip on board the cruiser Tacoma, and the Russian envoys were conveyed to their destination on board the Chattanooga.

was with somewhat gloomy forebodings that nothing would be accomplished by the negotiations which are to open so soon that the two delegations left the city. The statements made by representatives of the two belligerent nations gave little hope that a common basis for an understanding would be

Constantine Nabokoff, of the Russian foreign office, when asked at the St. Regis Hotel as the Russian party was leaving whether Russia would agree to the cession of territory to Japan, or the payment of an indemnity, two of the points on which it is believed Japan will insist, replied:

"I do not think so." Beyond this statement the Russian representatives had nothing to say.

Prospects Not Bright.

Mr. Saito, who has acted as the mouthpiece of Baron Komura, was asked as he was leaving the Waldorf-Astoria how the prospects of peace looked, and replied:

"Not very bright, but we are hopeful that the conference may conclude successfully.

In accordance with the plans made for the two parties to make the trip to Oyster Bay the Japanese envoys left the city first. They left the pier of the New York Yacht Club at the foot of Japanese Leave First.

The Japanese envoys left the Waldorf-Astoria at 8:30, and were driven directly to grant Japanese full concessions as to the exploitation of the fisheries and other results producing resources of the to the pier. There were lifteen members of the party, and four carriages were used to carry them to the pier. Baron Komura and Minister Takahira, the peace plenipotentiaries and their advisers wore frock suits and slik hats. The secretaries of the delegation appeared in business suits.

A crowd had gathered near the pier, and as Baron Komura alighted from his carriage, a cigarette between his lips, the people, who were held back by a police guard, set up a cheer.

All the Russians were smoking cigareties. As they alighted from the carriages they exchanged greetings with one another. Assistant Secretary of State Peirce received the entire delegation, as did Lieu-tenant Evans. The launches were sum-

Japan's Terms Too Severe

Declares Russian Envoy

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—The peace terms imposed by Japan are too severe, is the view expressed by M. Witte, Russia's chief envoy, to President Roosevelt. Prior to the introduction today of the Russian and Japanase peace plenipotentiaries by the President in the drawing-room of the Mayflower, it was learned that M. Witte had spoken very frankly to Mr. Roosevelt, declaring that it was his earnest desire to bring about peace, but he feared that Japan's terms are too harsh and excessive to be entertained by Russia.

The President in a general way knows what the terms will be; so does M. Witte.

Opposes an Armistice.

It became clear today that Japan was not willing to grant an armistice. It is generally understood that there will be no formal truce, as the present temper of Japan is to continue hostilities until peace is actually concluded.

Japan realizes, it is said, that in order to maintain her claim for $750,000,000 indemnity, the cession of the island of Sakhalin and other important concessions in proportion to her conquest, she must widen the scope of her victories and drive the Russians out of Harbin

The feeling in Russia is not for peace. This is shown by a St. Petersburg dispatch printed in the Matin of Paris, to-day. It declares that a feeling amounting to a certainty exists in the Russian capital that the conference between the Russian and Japanese peace envoys will be broken off at the outset. The bellef, It adds, in the possibility of peace, has ceased to exist for the reason that peace is not desired.

Blair Lee, opposing Jones, represents all the anti-organization forces in the county. His supporters have especially attacked Senator Jones' vote for the Shoemaker road law, which passed last session and raised taxes in this county. Only less vigorously has he been assailed for supporting the bill for pentage of the Chited States in the matter of tar-trict, makes the result remarkably close. This estimate gives Laytonsville to Lee by about 25, Poolesville to Jones by 40. Clarksburg to Lee by 50 to 75, Rockville to Jones by 75 to 100, Colesville is listed as even, Darnestown is claimed by both sides, so is Bethesda though it seems likely to go for Jones by a narrow margin: Oiney will go for Lee, from indications, by an equally close figure, and Galthersburg will probably go to Jones, Potomac, Brownsville, and Damascus are claimed for Jones by aggregate pluralities of 125, and Wheaton is expected to go for Lee by 60.

Rate Questions.

For months the President has talked ATTRACTS LITTLE INTEREST rate regulation to his visitions, political and others. He is determined to insist on a reasonable grant of power for Good Ones!

This sale of mill ends of fine fabrics holds forth the most on a reasonable grant of power for Government control of rates. He knows. Neither the Federal Administration the question, how great and difficult is or the most prominent advocates of the campaign on which he has entered reciprocity will take much active interest in the Chicago reciprocity congress is clearing the decks of other matters

Secretaries Wilson and Metcalf declined from the start to attend or send official representatives of their departments, on the ground that it was no business of the Government to send its an employes to conventions designed to interest in the convention, but people in their departments deny this.

There are many people who believe in reciprocity, yet believe the Chicago convention this month will be a sort of its warn song of the movement. These are the publicists who have tried to get reciprocity treaties through the Senate and are now satisfied that reciprocity can't be had.

Tit's like the millennium—good if were get-at-able, but a very long way ahead. So they doubt the utility of carrying on an academic discussion when the same old anti-reciprocity Senators are regularly returned by their States.
